O’Brien & Keane (www.obrienandkeane.com) is seeking a talented individual to join its architectural design staff, to collaborate on the exciting projects now in progress and in all phases of design and construction. We hope to add a team player that will be integral to our business moving forward, engaged in all aspects of the firm’s practice. In particular, the new staff member will possess creative problem-solving abilities, an eagerness to grow, learn and contribute to the success of the firm and have a passion for the crafting of buildings.

The following position is now open:

Full-time architectural designer on the path to licensure with some previous experience working in an architect’s office.

Knowledge and skill with Adobe Creative Suite, AutoCAD, Revit, SketchUp, artistic presentation techniques, construction documents, and sustainable design practices will be important factors in the evaluation of each candidate. Good communication, a positive attitude and organizational skills are essential in our small-office environment.
