WMATA Count Study May 2015 – Available to any undergraduate or graduate students. Students are needed to help on a short term project with the Washington Metropolitan Area Transit Authority (WMATA) to help count passengers on Metrorail during the first two weeks of May (5/4-5/15). We’re looking for students who can meet at least most of our scheduled counts, which will be conducted between 6-9am and 3-6pm on Tuesdays, Wednesdays, and Thursdays across the Metrorail system. Counters will be paid between $15-20 per hour (final amount will be confirmed), including a training session to be scheduled in late April. Students interesting in transportation/planning will get to meet transit professionals in consulting and at WMATA.

If interested, please send an email to Lyle Leitelt at lyle.leitelt@aecom.com with the position’s title in the subject line and attach a cover letter and recent resume. Emails should be no more than 1MB. If you have any questions, please email Lyle.

Qualified candidates will be interviewed immediately.
